THE INAUGURATION OF CLAYTON S. ROSE

FIFTEENTH PRESIDENT OF BOWDOIN COLLEGE

Clayton S. Rose, Ph.D., was elected Bowdoin's fifteenth president by a unanimous vote of the Bowdoin College Board of Trustees in January 2015, following an eight-month international search.

Rose previously served as a member of the faculty at the Harvard Business School, where he taught and wrote on the responsibilities of leadership, managerial values and ethics, and the role of business in society. He joined the faculty at HBS in 2007 and was named professor of management practice in 2009. He was also engaged administratively at HBS, dealing with issues of community values and standards and the school's honor code, and was part of a faculty group advising on improving the experience of women faculty and students. He was recognized at HBS for innovation in teaching and for service to the community.

Originally from San Rafael, Calif., Rose earned his undergraduate degree (1980) and M.B.A. (1981) at the University of Chicago. In 2003, following a highly successful twenty-year leadership and management career in finance, he enrolled in the doctoral program in sociology at the University of Pennsylvania to study issues of race in America, earning his master's degree in 2005 and his Ph.D. with distinction in 2007.

Rose is a member of the board of trustees of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute, the nation's largest private supporter of academic biomedical research. He is also a member of the board of directors of XL Group.

His wife of thirty-two years, Julianne H. Rose, originally from Rosemont, Penn., earned her undergraduate degree in biology magna cum laude at Boston College and her M.B.A. at the University of Chicago. The couple has two adult sons, Garrett and Jordan, and two black labs, Pete and Emmie.

Presidential inaugurations are rare—this is only the fifteenth in Bowdoin's 221-year history. In addition to the installation ceremony itself, the weekend includes a variety of events celebrating this milestone. All members of the Bowdoin community are invited.

▼ Highlighted in gray, Inauguration events are indicated throughout the weekend schedule.
